

THE BE BACKER

I shall take these cups now with me and be back for the other items in several days. How many times had my ears heard these words while attending to folks in my potters shop?

The "be backers".

These folk's intensions were good I presume.

Most times the folks usually returned as they had said.

In many instances they selected additional pieces to take home with them.

Many of these pieces of clay were to be given to family members and friends.

The folks whom these items of clay were given enjoyed them I was told many times.

They did not however have the opportunity the giver had to have a visit with me.

They, the receiver, did not have a visit to my clay room, kiln room, my farm with the animals about.

They did not have the opportunity to experience the abundant flowers of summer with my herb garden, butterflies and sounds of the summer bugs abounding.

They did not have the experience, the receivers of the gifts of clay, to be a "be backer" before returning home once again.

My inner spirit has prompted me to speak concerning the “be backers” spoken concerning in the Bible that I now see.
The “prodigal’s son”

Did his father know when his son left his home that he would be back?
His son took all the substance that was due to him and went on his way.
The deeds he did caused him only misery.
When he came to a terrible end he decided to go back home and ask for a place in his fathers house if it were feeding only the pigs!
Journeying back home he saw in the distance his father standing waiting outside for him.
He was greeted with the kindest of warmth and given a place of a son once again.
He came back home.
I suppose his father knew he would be a “be backer”!
What stories did his son tell to others concerning his coming back?
There are many whom we could study in this “be backer” way.
The 99 sheep that remained on the hill while the shepherd went out to find a lost one.
He did return with the lost sheep and all rejoiced receiving the “be backer” that had come home.
Joseph whose brothers sold him into slavery who went down into Egypt had a visit from his brothers because of a famine in the land.
They did not recognize him as their brother.
Joseph gave orders that to “be back” and have the provisions that they required they needed to “be back” with their brother.
The Israelites after having their time in Egypt land even were “be backers”.
They returned to their homeland after almost 500 years.

The greatest of all and there are many more I should like to review.
Time does not permit me today to do so.
You may however see the "greatest be backer" that shall ever be.
His Name is Jesus.
Jesus said He was going away and preparing a place for us.
He, Jesus then was coming back to get us.
What a most wonderful promise in these words today I see.
Even if you are a miserable creature you may accept Jesus as your Savior and
"be back" home with God Almighty in His Kingdom.
You shall receive new life in Jesus the Christ.
Be back home where God the Father has always wanted you to be.
We have a way to be back in Gods Kingdom for eternity!
What a gift is given to us a vessel of clay to receive.
As I sit waiting for another guest to arrive in my potter's shop I shall remember the "greatest be backer" every day.
Jesus is coming back to get me.
My door is always open to Him.
My oil shall not grow dim for I have a lamp continually burning in my heart waiting for Him.
The clay pieces residing on my shelves daily remind me of the various vessels of clay containers Jesus is waiting to come back and claim for Himself.
Jesus purchased all these with His Blood when He died on a cross.
After dying He went into hell to pay the price for our life.
God raised Jesus up from among the dead and before He went home He promised to "be back" to get us.
If you have not received Jesus as your Savior do so today.
You may be ready when Jesus comes back to collect all His vessels of clay.
All are prepared wrapped about in Gods love waiting for Jesus to "be back".
We shall go home then with Him.
"Be Backers" keep looking up!
Your Savior, Jesus is coming back!
